Abstract of the Disclosure

Video frames that contain text areas are selected from given video frames by removing 5   redundant frames and non-text frames, the text areas in the selected frames are located by removing false strokes, and text lines in the text areas are extracted and binarized.